REAL WEDDING
Calgary

"The most memorable part of our wedding were our joint vows. They were just the right amount of serious with a generous dose of humour – just like our relationship. We recited our vows in an untraditional manner wherein we completed each other's promises. You can practice your vows over and over again but nothing compares to being there, in your moment, looking into the eyes of the person you love and truly meaning and feeling every word that comes out of your mouth."
